

A Prevention Renaissance

May 2, 2019
9:00am – 4:00pm

Join Ohio’s prevention community for a day of education and critical thinking about prevention! The one-day conference will spotlight keynote presentations, workshops and dialogue to illuminate new angles on a swath of key prevention topics, from school-based prevention to prevention policy priorities, from critical examination of the implications of medical marijuana to taking a stand for prevention in non-prevention spaces. And more.

Featuring:

A Prevention Conversation with OhioMHAS Director Lori Criss

Director Criss, newly appointed leader of OhioMHAS and a longtime prevention advocate, will discuss her prevention priorities and dialogue with conference participants.

The conference also showcases presentation of the 2019 ADAPAO Awards, the ADAPAO Silent Auction, and professional networking with prevention peers and advocates from all over Ohio – in a scenic riverside setting and comfortable learning environment.
